Germany, Occupied Countries Battered In Heavy Assaults

British Plan Torpedoes Nazi Destroyer In Skagerrak—Nine German Night Raiders Downed For New Record

LONDON, March 13.—(CP)—British fighters and bombers attacked a German occupied airfield at Calais this afternoon, the air ministry announced tonight.

The ministry also said a Nazi bomber which tried to raid Britain was intercepted and shot down.

By SIDNEY J. WILLIAMS

LONDON, March 13.—(CP)—Great Britain, celebrating the enactment of the Lend-Lease bill, launched its greatest aerial offensive of the war during the night with powerful new bombers in raids on Germany, Norway, Holland, Belgium and France, smashed a German mass raid on Liverpool and returned to the attack today with two offensive sweeps of the invasion coast.

In addition a British Beaufort torpedo-bomber torpedoed a German destroyer in bright moonlight in the Skagerrak at the entrance to the Baltic sea.

LIVERPOOL, Eng., March 13.—(BUP)—British ground and air defenses last night saved Liverpool and other Merseyside towns from devastation by 200 German planes which raided the city.

Incendiary bombs were doused promptly, at least two German planes were destroyed, and one aircraft fire kept the attackers at a high altitude.

Liverpool and adjoining towns appeared almost as usual. Transport was normal this morning. It has been established that casualties were not unduly heavy, except for a major loss in a working class suburb.

A number of auxiliary fire-fighters were killed when a bomb burst in the center of a fire raging in a central square.

CREW BATTLES
One raider was shot down at the Liverpool recreation ground and two were injured. The crew of another plane bailed out.

Many raiders participated in the attack, coming in very high at frequent intervals. Flares straggled behind the clouds.

NAVY SHIP YARDS
The minister said that new types of bombers carried very heavy bombs.

RAID ON HOLLAND
A raid over Holland, the Schiphol airfield outside Amsterdam was bombed.

SHIP SUPPLY SHIP
A large supply ship at anchor was attacked in Jmuiden harbor, the minister said, ships, bombed at Ostend and later fired.

Turks Prepared

Although Turkey's government has given no indication as yet whether she will fulfill her obligations to Greece should her neighbor be attacked by the Nazi hordes now massed on the frontiers of both countries, no made any statement concerning probable assistance to Britain in the Balkans, the Turkish army is prepared for any emergency. Above is Marshal Fevzi Cakmak, Commander-in-Chief of the armed forces, while at right are above the type of soldiers that make up the Turkish army.

OTTAWA, March 13.—Parliamentarians were deep in study today of farm prospects following the government's announcement of 1941 wheat policy based upon plan recognition of the fact that Canada's overseas wheat markets have suffered a war casualty of at least 35 per cent.

In the second year of this war, Canada's wheat economy faces enforced contractions—the anti-theft of the last year when the second year brought the campaign to grow more wheat. No matter how observers looked at it, the wheat prospect has little silver lining. The government yesterday asked westerners to recognize there will likely be even less wheat in this year than last, and asked exporters to recognize that the wheat policy is going to cost the country more this year than last.

The government's policy is to carry the wheat economy through the federal department, was in even keel, if possible, for the next two years, to prevent the cost to the country getting out of hand, to prevent the wheat surplus from becoming unmanageable, and to keep the production "planned" in good repair for the expected job of feeding hungry Europe after the war.

ISTANBUL, Turkey, March 13.—(AP)—British officials probing the bomb assassination attempt on the life of George W. Rendell, British minister to Bulgaria, said last night that British legion members were involved.

MEADOW LARK DOESN'T MIND COLD WEATHER

A meadow lark has remained here all winter and apparently likes the district and the climate. Making its home in an oak stub on a foot, from two miles from here, the bird can be heard singing cheerily on warmer mornings.

Despite the fact that most of the country roads here are blocked with snow and only a few closer to town have been cleared by the snow plow, the bird is doing well in the new habitat.

DAYSLAND Sleigh-Ride Is Featured By Fun

Dayland United Church Sunday school held a sleigh-ride party recently when four sleighs were used. The sleighs were loaned by George Bowley, Lawrence Moore, A. Congdon and C. Mayor.

Following the ride, lunch was served in the church. Occupants of the sleighs contributed to the entertainment. Guest of honor was Bobby Moser, celebrating his fifth birthday.

Congratulations have been received by the Morrin branch of the Canadian Legion for being the first of 170 branches to sign up 100 per cent for home defence.

Eighteen men and boys from this district are now on active service. These include: J. F. Brooks, J. G. Gillette, R. Gallagher, J. Keddy, J. Offord, J. R. Baker, R. H. Taylor, T. Taylor, H. Chambers, B. Stokstad, C. Hinton, H. Morgan, J. Morgan, J. Wilson, B. Allen, J. Gillebride, and J. M. Ross.

CITY FOLK ARE NOT ONLY Behind Canada's War Effort: Country Cousins Doing Part

Aside from taxes and wage deductions, long hours spent at regular periods of military training, what is the actual war effort of Mr. Average Canadian?

Considerable publicity has been given to efforts campaigns in the latter centers of the province, but there another side to the story—the part played by country folk in rural parts of Alberta, for instance, places like Canmore, Red Deer, Wetaskinaw, Cochrane, Stettin, and Provost and dozens of other towns and villages.

In the various forms staged for war charities and in the more recent drive for the sale of war savings certificates, small town people have for the most part shown up wonderfully.

"Signed up" 100 per cent in the drive and "signed up" 100 per cent to stimulate the sale of war savings certificates and stamps have been used as prizes and as incentives in the various dance and other social events.

DUGGAN CALLS FOR ECONOMIC COUNCIL PLAN

First Step In Rehabilitation
Of West, City
M.L.A. Says

First step in a rehabilitation program for the prairie provinces would be the creation of an economic council, composed of representatives of the prairie provinces and universities, and headed by leaders in agriculture, industrial and commercial life, Dr. M. Duggan, M.L.A., said today in an address in the budget debate in the legislature Wednesday.

Among the functions of this council, Dr. Duggan said, would be consideration of all recommendations for the establishment of more equitable Dominion-provincial relations, united action in the development of the prairie provinces, a program to reduce the cost of government through the elimination of duplication in public services, effective coordination of agricultural, research agencies and policies designed to stabilize agriculture, including price structure, marketing and storage of grain.

Referring to the budget, Dr. Duggan declared that "Don't be afraid to complement the provincial treasury for the efforts which it has made to refund the public debt of this province, but the fact that it has done so has not been an effort that I think has been coming to the aid of the province's economic situation. I think the province's economic situation can be met only by the province's own efforts, and the province's own efforts are the only ones that will be effective."

Dr. Duggan reviewed extracts from the budget of the Dominion government, and said that the opening of sessions since 1936.

PRESS PRAISED FOR AID GIVEN IN WAR SAVINGS

Praise for the press for publicity given the war certificates sale drive was expressed Thursday by R. E. Staines, chairman of the War Savings Committee for Northern Alberta, and who said that the press had done a "magnificent job" in expressing his thanks on behalf of the committee.

"The assistance of the press has been invaluable in the success of the campaign," Staines said.

A Correction

It was inadvertently reported in Wednesday's news item that the Edmonton City Directory was the source of the information that the city had received an award for its best public relations campaign.

TWO BUSES BOUGHT FOR CITY FLEET

Diesel-Engine Vehicles To Improve Service—Cost
$11,000 Each

Two 35-hp diesel buses will be added to the Edmonton street railway system next week, city engineers announced today.

First of these buses arrived in the city Thursday and a new unloading preliminary took at the city garage.

The second bus is scheduled to arrive on Monday from the factory at Toronto. The new buses will be used on the B street line, between the 10th and 14th street stops.

Purchase of the buses was decided on by the city commissioners, who were advised by the city engineer, Mr. J. G. Gibb, said in a statement today.

The addition of these buses will help solve the winter traffic problem on the B street line, which has been a problem for some time.

When these buses go into service, it will be possible also to have a diesel engine bus in the city fleet, which will be used on the South Saskatchewan line.

It is anticipated that this overhaul job will occupy three months. Commuters will be inconvenienced during the overhaul, but the city has promised to provide alternate service.

Mr. Gibb said no indication had been received from the British Columbia government that the province will purchase any of the new buses.

Health Board Alarmed At Housing Shortage: Over - Crowding Exists

Alarm was expressed Wednesday by members of Edmonton's health board over what was termed "an acute shortage of plumbing" in houses designed for one-family use, and which, through housing shortage, are being crowded by several families. It was stated that there are "hundreds" of such cases throughout the city, and that the final solution rests in the provision for more housing rather than increasing plumbing facilities in houses already congested.

This question came before the health board on an inquiry by Mr. J. H. Parsons, Dr. G. M. Little, medical health officer, said the situation was serious, but nothing can be done to ease it until Edmonton's acute housing shortage is relieved.

No action was taken by Dr. Little, who said the board expressed concern over the seriousness of the housing problem.

Mr. Parsons said that the city would build three more houses this year, but that the city would not be able to take the load over her shoulders. He said it was hoped to find some of the houses to be built on the city's building scheme, he stated.

He said it was hoped to find some of the houses to be built on the city's building scheme, he stated. He said it was hoped to find some of the houses to be built on the city's building scheme, he stated.
